2012 Caprice Partition and Push Bumper Join Pro-gard's Universal Product Lines

INDIANAPOLIS, IN, December 19, 2011 --- Pro-gard Products, LLC, a leading manufacturer and supplier of law enforcement vehicle equipment has developed a line of universal push bumpers and partitions for police package vehicles. Now fleets can take advantage of this feature for the new 2012 Chevrolet Caprice.

"In response to feedback we've received from many fleets," said Mike Navarro, General Manager at Pro-gard, "we chose to design our current partition and push bumper so that fleets can have flexibility to easily transfer them into another police package vehicle."

Navarro added, "With regards to vehicles, this has been a huge year for fleets. Major changes in vehicles and vehicle design mean major changes in the equipment to fit these newer models. We heard early on from many fleets that they were not sure which vehicles they would end up purchasing. As a result, Pro-gard chose to offer the universal fitment of these products to help alleviate some of their concerns."

Pro-gard offers a Universal Partition and Push Bumper for sedans and another for SUVs. Fleets who purchase these products for current model police package vehicles will automatically receive the new universal version. If they wish to transfer the product into another police package vehicle in the near future, they only need to purchase a vehicle specific transfer kit. The transfer kits can equate up to one third the cost of the original product purchase.
